PRICE THREE CENTS

Birth-Marks

A MEDICAL convention in Philadelphia displays radium needles which, according to the doctors, can eliminate all traces of birth-marks, moles, etc. It is bloodless surgery, so no scars are left.

This is of special interest to women, all of whom should rejoice in the step forward. All women should do everything within their power to make themselves beautiful. Beauty is woman's greatest asset, holding the same relation as strength to man.

The day is not far off when intellect will be the real evidence of beauty, showing strength and physical beauty into second place.

Eyesight

ACTUAL money you guard carefully. Even after it is in the bank, you hide the bankbook. Furniture and other belongings you insure against fire. But good eyesight—that greatest and most valuable form of personal wealth—usually is handled as carelessly as if it were so much sand.

Ten thousand men and women are interrupted at their work by investigators from the Eye Sight Conservation Council of America. Examinations of the workers show that 53 out of every 100 have defective eyesight.

That explains much inefficiency. In most cases, defective eyesight can be remedied. The wearing of proper spectacles, even for a short time, often corrects imperfect vision.

Have your eyes examined. Guard them around emery-wheels or other devices that may cause blindness.

Lost money can be replaced. Lost eyesight is gone forever. Keep out of the City of Dreadful Night.

Winter

A WHITE robin is noticed by Mrs. H. C. Studley, innkeeper at Lorain, Ohio. The not superstitious, she thinks this means a hard winter.

Most certainly, the coming winter will be more severe than the last one, says Dr. P. H. Dudley, weather observer for the New York Central Railroad. Cold winters usually follow hot summers. "Lay in" your coal. Prepare to dress warmly.

Terror

AN airplane, protected by steel armor plate and mounting 30 machine guns, has been perfected by John M. Larsen, Long Island inventor and engineer.

Daily it becomes more certain that the next war's major combats will be fought in the air.

The coming disarmament conference has it within its power to prevent that "next war." Then brains like Larsen's can devote themselves to the perfection of fool-proof transportation of passengers and freight by air. The inventor of a war device turns the clock backward.

Microbes

SERGEANT WILLIAM SANLIN, of Devils Jump Branch, Ky., won many medals for his exploit of killing 24 German machine gunners in the Argonne forest.

Now he learns that he has serious lung trouble.

The strongest man in the battle is a weakening when germs attack him. If the disarmament conference fails, it is certain that microbes, spread by bombs dropped from airplanes, will be the leading weapon of the next war. Do you want that? Neither do the common people of any other country. Diplomats do not truly represent their people.

Useless

WHAT is an education worth? In Boston, Edward B. Batash, a Syrian youth, speaks six languages fluently but is unable to get a job.

His plight is a lot like that of the average college graduate who has not specialized. He knows too much that cannot be turned into cash. Get a practical education first. After that, if you have time, become cultured and versatile.

Yankee

SHERMAN GADE, Norway's new minister to Brazil, stops off in New York and tells this story:

At one time, a woman complimented him on his ability to speak many languages, and asked him where he learned English.

"I was taught it since childhood," said Gade. "But I never felt I knew it fluently until I was elected mayor of Lake Forest, Ill."

Wherever you find something doing, you'll find an American.

JAILED EX-EMPEROR TRIES SUICIDE

Nation's Capital Booze Soaked; Big Lots Pour In Thru Detroit

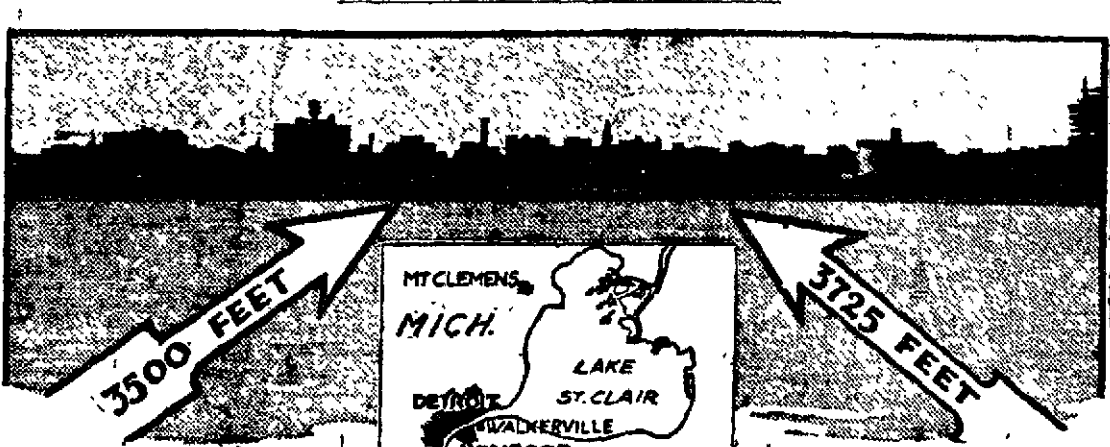

3,000 GALLONS IS DAILY IMPORTS

Rum Shipped Into "Dry" U. S. By the Train Load

INTOXICANTS OPENLY SOLD

Whisky Used as Bribe With Those in Authority

THE DETROIT RIVER—ANOTHER RUM FLOODGATE

This photo, taken from the Detroit water front, shows the short distance across to Canada—the source of much of the Middle West's rum supply. From Windsor, directly opposite Detroit, and from Walkerville, a little above, where a distillery is located, thousands of gallons of booze are smuggled into the United States. Ecorse, a Detroit suburb, is the headquarters of the rum-running gang.

Rum-running is operated along the lines of big business. There is no one big booze "ring" operating nationally, but the business of smuggling liquor into the country in Detroit—the biggest booze gateway next to Miami and Savannah—is an organized business.

Bootleggers, the men who sell, are first cousins to thugs and bandits. They operate mostly as individuals, cutting each other's throats and selling cheap poisonous "doctored" hooch than high grade liquor.

A national investigation made for the Lima News by NEA Service shows that bootleggers fight each other, while the big rum-runners hang together.

Around Detroit liquor smugglers are organized after the general plan of a Chamber of Commerce.

A thousand cases of liquor—3,000 gallons worth conservatively $60,000—under illicit traffic prices—come across the Detroit river from Canada every night, according to inside estimates.

Only a handful of government officials are there, making futile efforts to check the smuggling.

RUNNERS RARELY CAUGHT.

The organized smugglers belonging to the "chamber of commerce" are rarely caught. The little fellows are the ones who suffer generally.

Ecorse, a suburb below Detroit, is one receiving depot for smuggled booze. Anybody who comes to go there and hang around the docks—if he be acquainted with some member of the gang—can see the boats unloaded.

The village of Ecorse is wide open. Bars sell openly. Even beer, bulkier and awkward to handle in quantities, is available.

Small launches are used by the rum-runners. They easily evade the river patrol. Often government agents are sent off on wild goose chases, by false tips, while liquor is being safely landed.

Persons supposed to have influence are given a glass of liquor occasionally, they supposedly more influential, get it in case lots.

Soft drink stores where imported liquor can be obtained at 50 cents a drink are numerous in Detroit. Moonshine can be obtained for 25 cents a glass.

Bottled goods, Canadian, Scotch and Irish brands, are readily purchased in Detroit. A bottle of Irish—the familiar "fifth"—can be bought for $5.

COMES BY TRAINLOAD.

Until July, before the law was enacted against importing liquor into the Province of Ontario, liquor made in Windsor and Walkerville—across the river from Detroit—was sold over there by putting thru the transaction in Detroit. This made a technical importation into Ontario.

Now liquor can be made legally in Ontario, for export purposes.

A favorite method for distributing it thru the United States, including Detroit, was for an organized gang to send an agent to Havana or to a point in Mexico. Then a trainload of whisky was regularly shipped, consigned to this agent in a foreign country.

When the train came thru the river tunnel it was looted somewhere in the Detroit yards. Every case of liquor was removed. The empty train was sent on. Of course, the agent never complained that his liquor never arrived.

OFFICE IS ARSENAL.

An investigator visited the headquarters of one big rum-running gang. It was a dilapidated house in Detroit within 10 blocks of Grand Circus Park. Inside it looked like a mountaineer's shack.

On a bed lay a loaded shotgun! A caretaker in charge made sure he knew the person accompanying the stranger before the door was unlocked. The "boss"—head of the ring—"on business," the state captain, "on business."

There is an open space beside the house and usually one or two touring cars standing there. These machines bring the booze from Ecorse, where it is landed from launches plying between there and Canada. These same cars deliver the liquor in case lots at night to city patrons.

Trunks are often used to ship smuggled liquor from Detroit to other cities, large quantities going to Chicago. In shipping a trunk of bottled booze the trunks sometimes are checked on duplicate tickets. Then one is destroyed and the baggage checks are sent to the destination where the agent is to escape possible detection, sends an unsuspecting porter after the trunks.

BAD FOR SHIPMENT.

The drawback to any shipment of bottled booze in small quantities is that no bottle is ever quite full, and no matter how well the bottles are packed in cotton or straw, the handlers of the trunk or box can always hear the peculiar, unmistakable sound of liquor as the bottles are shaken in transit.

Consequently much of it never reaches its destination.

Summer cottages along the Detroit river, with small wharves, where it is easy to load liquor, rent at much higher rates than before prohibition.

State Prohibition Director James Davis, at Detroit, said that "conditions are not bad now." He pointed with pride to the fact—which is true—that smuggling via Windsor and Walkerville ferryboats had been wiped out.

Ferryboat smuggling was never anything but "small stuff." Meanwhile the big, organized smuggling goes on.

MAYOR'S PLAN IS RESENTED

The Lima Chamber of Commerce, Outdoor Relief society and Social Welfare Bureau are strongly opposed to Mayor F. A. Burkhardt's plan to raise funds for aid of the unemployed by holding a tag day donation on Armistice Day, or at any other time.

Sentiment expressed by C. A. Hlatt, director of Outdoor Relief, Tuesday, was strong against any plan fostered by "Mayor Burkhardt that would use that organization, Social Welfare Bureau or other similar organization in Lima for the purpose of raising money."

HELD CITY PROBLEM.

The situation is solely a matter for the city to handle," declared Director Hlatt.

Mrs. Irene Mills Jackson, director of the Social Service Bureau, resented the mayor's plan to use that organization as a means of raising funds when the mayor called her on the telephone Monday to inform her he would appear before a meeting of welfare workers in the chamber of commerce rooms Monday night to foster a plan for holding a tag day demonstration on Armistice Day.

Mrs. Jackson said.

The chamber of commerce is also opposed to any plan to raise funds by popular subscription, President R. E. Dunn said.

"The Lima Chamber of Commerce is opposed to any plan to raise money for help of the unemployed by popular subscription," Dunn stated Tuesday.

"The unemployment question, the chamber of commerce feels, is one for the city administration, the city council and the mayor—to work out either thru a bond issue or otherwise," President Dunn said.

MORE OPPOSITION.

"The Outdoor Relief society is against any plan other than one fostered and carried out by the city administration," was the declaration of C. A. Hlatt. "This is a problem for the city, not us. I believe an appeal thru the newspapers would serve a good purpose in helping to handle the situation," he declared.

Mayor Burkhardt stated Monday he would appear before an informal meeting of welfare workers to be called together by Mrs. Jackson Monday night for the purpose of arranging a program for study of local conditions. The mayor was not present, it was stated Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the conference between Mayor Burkhardt heads of civic organizations and city council for discussion of the unemployment problem, as announced recently, has not been called.

WON'T DEFEND SUITS

COLUMBUS. — Attorney General Price has determined not to defend suits to enjoin state coal contracts aggregating $500,000 because the purchasing agent had not complied with the law.

The contracts involved coal purchases for 23 state institutions and office buildings. The suits for injunction were brought by M. E. Thrall.

CRIME AND DEATH IN WAKE OF BOOZE

LIQUOR has figured in many murders, suicides and violent deaths, since the country went "dry". Among these cases are:

M'GANNON—Harold C. Kagy was shot and killed May 7, 1920, in Cleveland, following a liquor party with Judge William H. McGannon and John W. Joyce. Both men were acquitted, but McGannon has been found guilty of perjury and contempt.

ELWELL—Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy New Yorker, was found murdered in his apartment, June 11, 1920, after returning from a cafe party. Murderer never found.

LOFTIS—Sam T. Loftis, wealthy Chicago jeweler, died in his apartment July 30, 1920, during fight with a girl; liquor party had been in progress; death due to alcoholism.

HAMON—Jake Hamon, while drunk, was shot Nov. 21, 1920, at Ardmore, Okla., hotel, and died five days later. Clara Smith Hamon was tried and acquitted.

PIERCE—Henry T. Pierce, wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer, found dead in his apartment after liquor party Nov. 21, 1920; Peter D. Treadway convicted and now serving 19 years and 6 months in penitentiary; Marie Rogers tried and acquitted.

ORTHWEIN—Herbert P. Ziegler, manager of a Chicago tire agency, shot and killed by Mrs. Cora Isabella Orthwein in her apartment March 2, 1921, after a cabaret liquor party; Mrs. Orthwein was tried and acquitted.

ARBUCKLE—Virginia Rappe died mysteriously following a liquor party in the rooms of Roscoe Arbuckle, movie comedian, in the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, Sept. 5, 1921; Arbuckle now under indictment for manslaughter.

HANAN—Mildred Hanan, daughter of millionaire shoe manufacturer, shot by Mrs. Grace Lawes as she and party of friends were leaving a Brooklyn apartment, Sept. 23, 1921; Mrs. Lawes afterward shot and killed herself; Miss Hanan died two days later.

STEIN—Al Stein, motion picture actor, found dead in his apartment in Los Angeles, Oct. 9, 1921, following a liquor party; circumstances similar to Arbuckle case; death said to be due to alcoholism.

MAY DEFER MEET COX TO GO ON HUNT

Officials Consider Opening Arms Conference Nov. 12

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Postponement of the opening meeting of the international conference on armament and disarmament until the morning of November 12, was intimated as probable today by high officials.

Conflict between the program as originally drafted for the conference and that for the ceremonies incident to Armistice Day burial of America's unknown soldier, was given as the reason for the probable postponement.

The sentimental consideration involved in opening the conference on Armistice Day, the date suggested by President Harding as the most appropriate was held important, but such considerations in effect were said today to make the difference insufficient to make up for the inconvenience caused by the dual exercises.

MONROE, La. — (By Associated Press) — Former Governor James M. Cox of Dayton, Ohio, Democratic candidate for president, and other distinguished men will be participants in a hunting expedition in the Texas swamps, near Bear Lake, which will begin during the first part of November and continue for possibly three months, it was learned today.

Among those who are expected to arrive with Mr. Cox are Colonel C. B. Fields, of Alma, Kansas, an old frontiersman, Colonel J. Freeman Little of Owensboro, Ky., former Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan and Frank C. Miller and Dayton Douglas of Canada. All of the members of the party are noted sportsmen and hunters.

JUBILANT, SORRY

CHICAGO HAS 30,000,000 GALLONS OF BEER READY

CHICAGO—All that stood between Chicago and 30,000,000 gallons of real beer today was official notification of breweries that they could make delivery of their product to corner drug stores.

"The demand for real beer cannot exceed the supply," Anton Laadt, manager of the Atlas Brewing company, said in speaking of the state of preparedness Chicago found herself in when Secretary of the Treasury Mellon lifted the lid by signing regulations allowing the sale of medicinal beer. The 30,000,000 gallons are all ready for consumption, Laadt stated. In addition to this sea of brew, vast vats of beer that have not yet been aged, are on hand in Chicago breweries.

"By the time the 30,000,000 gallons are gone," said Laadt, "the new brew will be ready to sell as a tonic."

Ohioans, Visioning Beer, Given Knock Out Legal Opinion

ZANESVILLE — (By United Press) — Jubilation among that portion of Zanesville's population, visioning beer as a cure for a cold, throat infections, following the announcement of Secretary Mellon's ruling that physicians would be permitted to prescribe the "long lost" beer for medicinal purposes, was turned to sorrow today when Prosecutor C. A. Maxwell declared the regulations would have no effect here.

He said the law passed by the last legislature, which prohibits medicinal beer in Ohio, would be strictly enforced here.

Women Among the Cleverest of Bootleggers

(BY CARL D. GROAT)

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — On the eve of the disarmament conference with its host of foreign guests, the national capital is flooded with bootleg booze.

Despite prohibition agents' efforts to squelch the illicit trade and to refute stories that Washington is one of America's wettest cities—with the lid lifted for the conference—a bootleg army, including women college graduates, ex-aviators, negroes and foreigners, is pursuing a systematic sale and distribution of the liquor. It can be obtained at from $8 to $20 a quart on an hour's notice.

Women are among the cleverest of the bootleggers' aides. They have entree in select apartment houses, distributing their illegal wares from such points. With the legalization of medicinal beer, of which believe the capital will become even "wetter."

PLENTY OF LIQUOR.

Altho dry agents believe they are gradually beginning to check bootleg consumption, their admissions, plus independent inquiry show:

1—There is "plenty of liquor" in Washington and it can be had even in hotels. In hotels, bell boys charge $20 a quart.

2—Routes like milkmen's or bakeries, are established to facilitate distribution. Armed automobiles, sometimes with a woman for a "blind," sneak booze in from Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

3—The courts, according to District Prohibition Commissioner Stephenson, due to laxity, or overcrowded dockets, are hampering enforcement. Over 7,000 bootleg arrests were made in the fiscal year 1921, ending in July. There are already 500 "speaking" cases on, in 250 in progress. In addition, 200 forfeitures of collateral have been made, 80 booze automobiles have been seized but none confiscated.

4—Booze can be found in the congressional office buildings; the senate office buildings brand is a bit better than the house office kind, some say.

5—Two prominent Pennsylvania restaurants were filled Saturday night and Sunday morning with drunken students—more public drunks than I have seen in nearly three years in Berlin, Paris, Brussels and London.

That is, according to Commissioner Stephenson is tighter, largely because National Commissioner Haynes' efforts to stamp out the main wholesale supply sources is making the bootleggers' efforts more difficult.

Stephenson pointed out the Washington bootleggers import only comparatively small automobile shipments. The largest haul his office ever made was a 26-barrel lot hidden in a box car, with automobile tires.

CONTENTION OF DRYS.

"I admit," he said, "there is plenty of booze to be had and that it can be obtained in hotels, but I contend Washington is tighter today than ever. It is harder than ever to get real liquor. Most of the stuff sold is either poisoned or faked."

Stephenson admits the district is plotted off in routes, but asserts there are few or no "master dealers." The only real "master minds" uncovered were the Butler brothers, negroes, now under arrest, who had amassed thousands of dollars and a string of 14 automobiles for booze transportation as a result of their operation, the police say.

Senator Sheppard, Texas dry leader, says bootlegging is not so rampant as a year or two ago; Senator King, Utah, liberal, says while he does not drink himself, his friends declare that it is increasingly difficult to buy liquor. But the Washington visitor finds it is still a simple matter to get a quart in short time. And, despite recent raids on hops and malt holdings, brewing and distilling at home proceeds merrily in the national capital.

FEW TO GET BEER.

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — Real beer may be sold in only 11 states, Wayne R. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, said today.

They are:

Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Louisiana, Wisconsin and Illinois.

ZITA STAYS HAND OF CHARLES

Former Hungarian Ruler Captured in March on Throne

DESERTED BY HIS TROOPS

Sweeping Victory is Won by Regent Horthy

BUDAPEST. — (By Associated Press) — Former Emperor Charles, whose attempt to re-establish himself upon the Magyar throne met with dismal failure yesterday, attempted to commit suicide by shooting following his arrest near Komorn. Former Empress Zita saw him preparing to shoot himself, and prevented him from carrying out his intention.

The former emperor and empress are now prisoners in the Esterhazy Castle at Tata-Tovaros, and Thomas Beaumont-Holler, British high commissioner in Hungary, is hurrying there, with the representatives of other nations to insure the safety of the prisoners.

CHARLES' DOOM SEALED.

Orders sent to the rebellious troops supporting Charles by Admiral Horthy, the Hungarian regent, spoiled the doom of Charles' attempt to regain at least a part of his former empire. The regent reminded the soldiers of their oath of allegiance to him and demanded their unconditional obedience, adding that the success of their undertaking would mean the ruin of the country.

The firm stand of Admiral Horthy had its effect, and the royalist forces scattered, seeming to vanish into thin air.

Latest advices from the section of country around Komorn indicated the government troops continued their pursuit of the royalists, and that the Kaiser's premier, M. Rakovsky, and Count Andrássy were among the supporters of the former monarch captured by the loyal troops.

ALLIES ACTION WAITED.

Charles' plan to return to the Hungarian throne having failed, the Hungarian government will probably await action by the allied powers regarding his future place of residence. It is known that Switzerland will not again give him refuge and it is possible that he will be removed to some place where he will be virtually a prisoner of the allied powers.

EX-RULER WEEPS.

VIENNA. — (By United Press) — Guarded by two companies of soldiers, former Emperor Charles and his consort wept today as they sat in an upper room of the Chateau Toller, near the field where their troops were crushed in battle.

They will be detained in the castle until the allies send instructions as to what shall be done with them.

The former Empress Zita implored the officers in charge of them to get some word of their children who were left in Switzerland when the campaign to regain the throne was launched less than a week ago.

TOLEDO. — (By Associated Press) — Harold McLean, 18, star half back on the Waite High School football team was killed and three companions, one a girl, were seriously injured when a terminal railroad switch engine struck the automobile in which they were riding last night at the Dixie Highway crossing near Maumee.

The injured:

COLUMBUS GROVE MAN PASSES AT NEWBURGH

COLUMBUS GROVE. — (Special) — The body of Homer Kohli, 43, who died at a hospital in Newburgh, O. Saturday, was accompanied to the home of his brother, Lee Kohli, here. Kohli was a former employee at the Best Holmes drug store here. Holmes is his brother-in-law. For some years Kohli had been in ill health. Death was due to a nervous breakdown.

Funeral services were held at the residence of Lee Kohli, Monday. Interment was made at Truro cemetery, beside the graves of his parents.

DIES IN ACCIDENT

ST. CLAIRSVILLE. — The flood of Wegee creek which two years ago claimed nine lives, was indirectly responsible today for the death of Elmer Coventry and the injury of John Glasse of Souderside.

Their automobile went over an embankment and into a gully that was washed out by the flood and had not been repaired.

EUROPE HAS RAIL TROUBLES, TOO

Situation Over There Similar to That in U. S.

GERMANY SUFFERING LESS

Conditions Studied by Chicago Great Western Head

(By SAMUEL M. FELTON)
President of the Chicago Great Western Railroad, who has just returned from Europe, where he made a special study of railroads abroad, offers the same perplexities, and the same measures for relief in a way are being applied, as in America.

Germany, of all the countries affected by the war, has apparently suffered least to her transportation systems. Her roads are in better condition than those of France and Belgium, and seemingly in a better condition than those of England.

Rolling stock has been overhauled and tracks put in repair. The wear and tear of the roads are in shape to handle any amount of traffic that may be offered.

Freight business within the former empire is reported to be only 15 per cent less than in pre-war times and passenger business but 35 per cent less.

GERMANY'S ADVANTAGE
The deficit of the German railways during the past fiscal year was approximately 15 billion paper marks, but 11 billion of this amount covered expenditures for deferred maintenance due to the war.

Based on normal conditions the actual deficit amounts to about four billion paper marks.

The railroads of France, Belgium and England are all suffering under high wage scales, excessive material costs and high priced coal.

In Germany this condition does not obtain, for while the wages of German workers are high in marks they are low in dollars, which status contributes to industrial output and gives Germany a decided advantage over all her former enemies, including the United States.

FRENCH RAILROADS
Taking the countries separately, the French railways are almost in the same condition as at the end of the war, excepting the lines that were damaged and had to be reconstructed.

Motor truck and bus service is seriously interfering with the English railroads and diverting a great deal of traffic which heretofore was shipped by rail.

I witnessed the extent of this new means of transportation on the high ways in and about London, where steam motor cars move over the most crowded streets pulling two or three trailers.

Before the war freight traffic rates in Europe were much higher than in America.

But the present freight rates in England show an advance of 125 per cent over pre-war days. In France 110 per cent, in Germany 600 per cent, in Belgium 100 per cent, in Switzerland 111 per cent, in Norway 186 per cent, and in Sweden 170 per cent.

These figures are contrasted with rate increases in America, which amount to 50 to 55 per cent.

DR. JOSEPHINE PEIRCE
SLATED FOR SECRETARY
OHIO CLUBS FEDERATION
Dr. Josephine Peirce, 1802 W. Market-st., will be elected recording secretary of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, which is holding the annual convention in Cincinnati.

Name of Mrs. Peirce was the only one presented for the office. Election will be held Friday, when the ticket presented by the committee will be normally approved.

RAIN'S COMING, IS FORECAST

The forecast by the weather bureau man can be accepted as correct—and he is right sometimes—the long continued period of welcome Indian Summer sunshine and balmy breezes is about to be displaced by rainfall.

That's the dope "at this writing," as the old timer used to say in the days before science evolved a plan whereby future weather could be foretold and when a prognostication was merely a bit of a guess.

We're due for a shake-down in the weather shuffle, it appears, since the forecast affirms that increasing cloudiness is to be followed by rain Wednesday and probably in the north portion late tonight, but "it will be warmer."

If rain does come tonight, "Ted" will pay the penalty for his Arkansas Traveler type of neglect.

BEER LEGALIZED

Ruling on Liquor Issued by Secretary Mellon

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—Beer as a medicine enjoys a full legal status today thru the expected action of the treasury department in promulgating regulations permitting its use for that purpose. Issued in accordance with an opinion submitted by former Attorney General Palmer last March 2, holding the medicinal use of beer to be legal under the prohibition laws, and after being withheld since then in anticipation of early action by congress on the pending anti-beer measure, announcement of the beer regulations came as a complete surprise to prohibition leaders.

In making known their promulgation, Secretary Mellon declared the department was unable to withhold the regulations longer in view of the "plain legal rights of the parties concerned."

While the new rules, covering comprehensively the use of wine and spirituous liquors as medicines as well as beer, fix a limit of 2 1/2 gallons, the equivalent to a case, on the amount of beer that may be prescribed to the same person at one time, no arbitrary limit is placed on the number of prescriptions one person may obtain within a given period.

Except that the amount for a single prescription is limited to two quarts, the wine regulations are the same, while spirituous liquors are limited to one pint within any ten day period.

CABINET TOTTERS

Briand, Threatened With Defeat, Demands Vote

PARIS.—(By Associated Press.)—Debate in the chamber of deputies on the general policy of the French government must end by tonight, in the general opinion of political observers here. Premier Briand at the opening of the session of parliament, demanded from the chamber a vote of confidence that was emphatic enough for him to appear before the conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions at Washington, as the undisputed spokesman of the people of France.

Friends of the premier said today he must know his fate at once as there is only just enough time for him to make necessary arrangements to sail on Saturday, if he is to attend the Washington conference.

WELFARE WORKERS PLAN STUDY COURSE

A group of Lima welfare workers met in the chamber of commerce rooms Monday night, to arrange a study of social and welfare problems for the coming winter. Mrs. Irene Mills Jackson, head of the Social Service Bureau called the meeting in hopes that the several social and welfare organizations church and club workers in the city might become better acquainted with local problems.

The meeting was informal and no officers were elected or business of importance transacted other than arranging tentative courses of study.

OHIO SCHOOL HEAD AIDE TO VISIT WESTMINSTER

Assistant State Superintendent of Schools W. B. Bliss will address the school patrons of Westminster, Wednesday evening at 7:30, in the auditorium of the Westminster school. County Superintendent C. A. Argabright announced Tuesday.

Bliss is coming to Allen-co for the purpose of aiding Westminster people in meeting some of their school problems, particularly that of school maintenance. The people of that school district will vote, in the November election, on the question of increasing the school levy three mills.

MAN FOUND DEAD AT HOME IN LINDEN-AY

Worthington E. Krelling, 50, was found dead in bed, Tuesday morning, at the home of Mrs. Jennie Clark, 517 Linden-ay, where he boarded. Death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, according to Coroner Adams.

Krelling was a blacksmith, employed at the Gramm-Bernstein plant. Mrs. Frank Mullenhour, E. Market-st., and Mrs. Maude Dennis, E. Elm-st., are sisters.

FORMER LIMA BOY IS MINISTER

Rev. Don Copeland Ordained—Huggins to Visit Lima

WAPAKONETA.—(Special.)—Rev. Don H. Copeland, pastor of the Episcopal church at Manistique Mich., a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Copeland, formerly of Lima and now residents of this city, has been ordained to the Diaconate of the Episcopal church by the Right Rev. Robert Lenoy Harris, Bishop of the Marquette diocese.

Mary Alice Dresher, 4, of Lima, visiting here with her mother at the home of Mrs. Margaret Dresher, created a stir in the west part of the city Monday, when she wandered away from the Dresher home and was lost.

The tot was found at the Western Ohio Railway depot, where she said, "I'm doin' home on the car."

Ed Garrett's Chevrolet car collided Monday with a Ford truck driven by Bert Shipline, at Perry and Pearl-sts. Both cars were badly damaged.

William Bryan, driving from Richmond, Ind., to Toledo, met with a serious mishap here Monday when he lost control of his car while crossing the Blackfoot-st bridge over the Auglaize river. The car plunged over the curb in front of the Charles Starnes residence, it was badly damaged.

POSTMAN ROBBED

Bandits Escape With Mail After Holdup in New York

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press.)—Three automobile bandits who held up a United States mail truck in Lower Broadway late last night, escaping with four pouches of registered mail, were being sought by the police and postoffice inspectors today.

Postal authorities said they were unable to fix the value of the stolen mail, much of which had originated in the Wall-st district. One of the inspectors on the case, however, was reported to have told city detectives the pouches contained about $1,000,000 in money and negotiable papers. Other estimates fixed the value of the haul at $500,000.

Frank Havranek, driver of the truck, was detained by the police to look over suspects expected to be brought in as the result of a city-wide alarm sounded a half hour after the holdup.

REMOVAL OF U. S. SOLON ASKED

Texas Congressman Charged With Obscene Language

WASHINGTON.—(By United Press.)—A resolution to expel Representative Thomas L. Blanton Democrat, Texas, from his seat in the house, was introduced in the house today by Representative Mondell, Republican floor leader.

The move to oust Blanton came as the result of remarks he caused to be printed in the congressional record Saturday, October 22.

This language, not delivered orally on the floor, but printed in the record as an extension of remarks, dealt with a row between union and non-union employees in the government printing offices. The remarks the resolution stated, contain "filthy, indecent and obscene language, not worthy of a member of the house of representatives."

Under an agreement between Mondell and Representative Garrett, acting Democratic floor leader, the resolution will be voted on Thursday.

PARTY FOR BONUS

Democrats Back Soldier Compensation, Durbin Says

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.)—"I hope Ohio will give a smashing majority for the adjusted compensation for soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses of the world war, often erroneously called the bonus proposition," said a statement issued here today by W. W. Durbin, Democratic state chairman for Ohio.

"The vote will be a referendum in a large sense upon the administration of President Harding. President Harding is trying to give away $500,000,000 or more to the railroad financiers but he said the national treasury cannot afford to do justice to the men and women who dared to risk their lives to defend the country and to make the world safe for democracy."

"Let us give such a majority as will show the president that the people of Ohio do not run away from their just obligations. This is one of them. The Democratic party is for the adjusted compensation proposition and hopes that the county and city organizations will work for it with might and main."

FUMES KILL FOUR

Cleveland Fumigator Held on Manslaughter Charge

CLEVELAND.—(By Associated Press.)—Louis J. Begis, manager of a local fumigating company, was arraigned in police court today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death yesterday of three women and a man.

The dead were found in their apartments on the third floor of a building where Begis was fumigating a restaurant on the first two floors. They are: Frank Fryer, 55, janitor of the building; his daughter, Rachel, 29, and Mrs. Helen Ashelman Perkins, 35 and Mrs. Altea Miller Sterchl, 28, formerly of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Windows and doors of the restaurant had been sealed, according to the police, but a ventilating shaft to the third floor had not. It was thru this shaft, it is alleged, that the fumes escaped, catching the victims in their suites without warning.

Four other occupants of apartments became ill but were not seriously affected.

ILL-TREATMENT CAUSE OF SUICIDE, CHARGED IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Alleged ill treatment by Mrs. Ann Brenneman, of a step-son, is charged in a divorce petition as cause for the suicide of the young man. The petition was filed in common pleas court late Monday.

Brenneman says that ten days after his step-mother had driven Amos B. Brenneman to the barn to sleep, he became down-hearted and ended his life. Brenneman asserts none of his children or relatives may visit him because of ill treatment extended them by his wife.

The couple were married in Putnam-co 24 years ago. Brenneman is 77 and his wife some years younger. He asks her dower in his ten acres of real estate in Monroeville to be barred and that he be awarded possession of chattels, among which is enumerated a sick hog.

BEER ELSEWHERE, BUT NOT HERE, UNDER ORDER

Beer for medicinal purposes may flow freely in other states, but the invalids of Ohio must content themselves with plain water.

Attorneys, police officers and brewers, mutually agreed Tuesday that ruling of the Treasury Department, permitting the manufacture and sale of beer, for medicinal only, would prove of small help in Lima. Manufacture and sale, they state, is prohibited by the Crabbes Act. This act nullifies the ruling of the Treasury Department, it was stated.

It was sold Tuesday at public auction by Sheriff Charles V. Baxter for $150. The plant was appraised at $2,840. The Golley & Finley iron works purchased it.

The sale was to satisfy the court action of the Golley & Finley Iron works against J. B. Brondes and others. Included in the chattels was a cooker, valued at $150; a steam engine, valued at $150; boiler, brick for same and smoke stack, valued at $1,000; a crane of the value at $20 pump, jacks and pipe, valued at $20 and the building which housed the plant at $1,500.

YANKS GIVEN RUN IN TRADE RACE

Americans Meet Sharp Competition in Egypt

NOT SO EASY SINCE WAR

Chamber of Commerce Formed to Aid in Fight

CAIRO.—(By Associated Press.)—American business men in Egypt are fighting to retain the trade between America and Egypt which was developed during the war when the nations of Europe were too busy to attend to their foreign trade. This wartime trade gave American exporters a foothold but since the war European competition has been resumed.

The establishment of an agency in Egypt of the United States Shipping Board, followed closely by the opening of branches of the American Express Company, has stimulated and encouraged the American colony here. Individual Americans have created local American firms in association with Egyptian business men to promote trade with America and have created the organization necessary to handle the interests of American manufacturers and shipowners.

AMERICAN ORGANIZATION. The recently organized American Chamber of Commerce is exerting every effort to assist American business interests to meet the keen European competition and to maintain the enviable position secured during the past few years.

Prior to 1914, the United States was commercially a small factor in Egypt's trade. During the war when Egypt was cut off from the manufacturing centers of Central Europe and the Egyptian importer turned to America and Japan, American goods flowed into Egypt, and the buying public became familiar with American products. This marked the first step in the development of America's trade with Egypt.

BUSINESS INCREASE. War prices for cotton greatly enriched the country and America benefited by the increased importations of luxuries, especially of automobiles and by a good business in wheat and flour.

The enormous increase in business compelled the American tire manufacturers to buy large quantities of the long staple Egyptian cotton imported in 1919-1920 over 250,000 bales. The English coal strikes brought big coal contracts to America. Thus in a few years America was ushered in as the opportunist to play an important role in Egyptian trade.

By 1919, American exporters realized somewhat the importance of the Egyptian market, and some export houses established branches in Alexandria and Cairo. Inexperience and the world crisis combined to defeat these attempts of the American exporters in many cases, but interest has been aroused and American trade is active in keeping its foothold.

NUXATED IRON

Over 4,000,000 People Annually Are Using Nuxated Iron. When your blood is starving for iron, no ordinary tonics or stimulants can put you right. Starving blood must have food. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron and is therefore entirely different from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron may be had from your drug-gist under the name of Nuxated Iron. Beware of substitutes.

Chicago Conference Expected to be Lengthy

(BY HAROLD D. JACOBS)

CLEVELAND — (By United Press) — Secret negotiations were reported here today to be under way, preliminary to the "peace conference" in Chicago tomorrow, which is designed to avert the railway strike, scheduled to begin Sunday.

While these reports were denied by the Brotherhood chiefs today, they persisted under the surface and were repeated with considerable detail.

According to unofficial information, these negotiations began between the railway labor board and the unions and between the board and the railway executives immediately after failure of last week's board union conference in Chicago.

They were said to have progressed to the point where the Brotherhood and the railways had exchanged views thru the board as a medium.

VERNON OF PLAN — A settlement, it was declared, had been virtually agreed upon. One version of the proposed agreement was:

The Brotherhood will accept the July wage cut and other reductions will be postponed.

The railways will translate the July wage cut into immediate freight rate reductions.

All working conditions and shop rules previously in effect, will be retained.

Such a settlement, it was pointed out, would provide "peace with honor" for everybody involved, including the railway labor board, which will have demonstrated successfully the power conferred upon it by the government.

LONG PARLEY EXPECTED — When the Brotherhood chiefs and their lieutenants numbering several hundred, leave for Chicago shortly before midnight tonight, they will be in a position, it was reported, to confine their activities to working out the details of a plan already drawn up and submitted to both sides.

This report apparently was substantiated by the fact that should tomorrow's meeting open without a definite program—with several hundred men participating and the sessions open to the public, it would drag out indefinitely and the strike would become effective without the situation having been changed.

ROAD CHIEFS MEET

CHICAGO — (By United Press) — Railroad executives met here today to prepare for the conference here tomorrow with the chiefs and general chairmen of the five big Brotherhoods before the United States railroad labor board.

As the executives went into session the railroad board made an eleventh hour study of the railroad crisis and drew up final plans designed to avert the strike called by the Brotherhoods for Sunday morning.

The conference called for today was said to be a secret and formal discussion. Some minor officials met here, but most of the preparation of employees for tomorrow's session was made by the Brotherhoods in Cleveland. The strike conference will be open to the public. A public hall was chosen because of the offices of the railroad board would not accommodate the 1,600 railroad executives and union leaders who have been ordered to participate.

The First "Bifocals"

Benjamin Franklin added much to the fame of the printing press. It is interesting, therefore, that this lover of the printed word should have invented one of the greatest aids to reading. For it was he who first thought of the idea of "bifocals," making for his own use the first pair of glasses ever constructed for both near and far seeing.

In the inevitable bifocals of today, we have the perfection of this idea. Youthful appearance is retained by these ingenious lenses that look like single pieces of glass.

Ease and effectiveness in wearing bifocals depend upon careful adjustment. The lenses must be so placed that the lines of vision will pass through them at the right points, without requiring the eyes to assume unnatural positions.

To many of our patrons we have been privileged to demonstrate the value of close and accurate adjustment in the fitting of bifocals. By such means are avoided the little annoyances that are otherwise apt to be experienced from this highly convenient type of glasses.

SEVERE WINTERS SHORTEN MANY LIVES; NOTED AUTHORITY WARNS AGAINST COLDS, URGING USE OF NEW "NASH TREATMENT"

Think It Duty of Newspapers to Instruct Readers in Use of This Positive Relief for Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Grippe and Pneumonia.

BREAKS INCIPIENT COLD IN TWO MINUTES
BREAKS BAD COLD IN TWO HOURS

Compound of Menthol, Camphor, Oils of Pine, Sassafras, Thyme and Eucalyptus Applied Externally Produces Vapor Which Soothes and Heals Membranes of Nose, Throat and Chest.

"Only the fittest shall survive" is an exploded theory. Look at the confirmed invalids about you, the "wretched" people who have "poor health," and then turn to the pages of last year's newspapers to the record that shows thousands upon thousands of deaths of men and women and children known to be in robust health one week, but in their graves seven days later.

Not that the weak can withstand the ravages of disease better than their neighbors, but that they take care of themselves and the healthy do not.

"The Common Cold is the civilized world's greatest enemy," says a noted authority. Our very mode of living encourages colds. We wear warm clothing indoors, while our homes, offices, stores and shops are kept at "summer heat." We breathe devaluated air, we pick up the germs of the other fellow's cold, we sneeze and snifle for a day or so—and then grippe, influenza, pneumonia.

Too many people neglect a cold. A noted specialist in his latest book proposes that every newspaper in the land publish interviews with local physicians every day this time of the year, that school and health authorities should teach the children of dangers of even a slight cold.

Dosing yourself with miscellaneous medicines without a doctor's advice is imprudent. Not that one must run to the doctor with every trifling cold, but treat your own and your children's colds with common sense.

What Nash Teaches.

Of late the public has heard a great deal concerning the "Nash Treatment." This is the application of scientific accuracy to time-tried specifics heretofore successful in a limited way. The Nash brothers of Arkansas have gained prominence by enlisting the support of physicians, hospitals, health authorities and druggists in a treatment that relieves a cold without the use of drugs.

Nash teaches the public to apply local treatment at once when the first indications of a cold develop. This is in the forming a "fuming saline," the vapors of which have a soothing and healing effect upon the inflamed membranes of the head and throat.

In this saline are the ingredients your mother used in family emergencies. Menthol, camphor, oil of pine, oil of sassafras, oil of thyme, oil of eucalyptus, in a base of (stainless) petrolatum. It is applied to the nostrils for inhalation and thickly upon throat and chest for absorption, having wonderful penetrating powers.

Some of the Doctor's Don'ts:

Don't neglect the most trifling cold. Don't sneeze and then say, "Excuse Me," for such a thing is inexcusable; you are spreading disease germs. Turn head and sneeze in handkerchief. Don't allow a bad cold to wear itself out. It may wear you out sooner.

Don't sit, or work, or sleep in a poorly ventilated room; best way in the world to catch cold.

Don't take cold "medicines" and cough "cures" unless you know the contents; start Nash treatment and call the doctor. Don't suffer the miseries of a bad cold when commonsense treatment will break such a cold in one night.

A Warning

Nash's Salve, not being a "patent" proprietary, is of course widely imitated. For your protection the genuine is labeled—"Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve." If your druggist has it in stock he should get a liberal supply at once from the wholesale house.

Complete directions for the treatment of colds, coughs, croup, sore throat, pneumonia, bronchitis and kindred ills will be found with each bottle.

Children Know

Nature tells the child that strong medicines are dangerous. They may be disguised in sugar coating, but the child knows; you can't fool him twice. He storms and rebels against "nasty medicine."

No need to make your child suffer internal tortures just because he has a cold. Don't upset the little stomach and possibly start him on the road to infantile indigestion.

Parents nowadays are using the external treatment for children's colds, not alone for the sake of kindness, but because it's quicker, absolutely sure and harmless. The Nash's Salve Treatment is now used in thousands of homes for relieving children's colds and coughs.

For spasmodic croup Nash's Salve is far superior to anything else, in fact, was perfected for that purpose.

Quack "Cures" Replaced by This Simple Treatment

So many worthless remedies have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public in recent years that some states are passing stringent regulatory measures.

"Cold cures," containing opiates and cathartics, that should be taken only upon the advice of a physician, have done more harm than good.

Nash's Salve is an ethical corrective for conditions arising from colds. It is applied externally and acts internally as its vapors are inhaled and absorbed.

Place a small quantity in each nostril, close mouth and breathe deeply; or melt a small amount in a spoon over a lighted match and inhale the vapors. Never fails to clear the nasal passages and bronchial tubes instantly.

Directions for treating croup, whooping cough, etc., should be followed closely; after spreading the salve thickly on throat and chest cover with warm white flannel. Arrange bedclothing so that patient must breathe the vapors all night.

Simple, easily understood directions will be found with every bottle of Nash's Croup-Pneumonia salve.

Reputable Physicians Never "Patent" Formulas

Always Make Known Their Discoveries To Entire Medical World.

Professional ethics encourage your physician to make known any unusual disease or new treatment to the entire medical fraternity. To cover a formula by patent is said to be unpardonable.

The Nash brothers first worked upon their formula when students of Vanderbilt University, College of Pharmacy. They perfected the formula by close observation of patient's reaction. As retail druggists, they had opportunities not always accorded a physician, but like the physician, they announced their scientific discovery broadcast and made no attempt to patent it.

In Reach of All.

To make this preparation of uniformly high quality and effectiveness and still keep the price within reach of all, the ingredients are purchased in very large quantity and every economy of distribution is sought. This is the seventh year that Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve has been on general sale and though much additional equipment has been added the production seldom catches up with the demand.

"FLU" EPIDEMIC VALUABLE LESSON SAYS DOCTOR

In discussing the deplorable epidemic of influenza of two and three years ago any physician of standing will tell you that it did much in the education of the public to the dangers of a cold.

The very fact that the "flu" starts with a cold brought about a wholesome fear of every symptom. Any person who sneezed in public was considered with suspicion and one with a cold in full bloom was usually advised to go home to bed.

"Slight colds are just as dangerous now as they were in 1918," said a physician just the other day. "The public must be made to understand that a cold left to run its course is the enemy not only of the one who has it, but every person who comes in contact with him."

Other articles dealing with colds, coughs, sore throat, croup, grippe and pneumonia will be published in this paper at frequent intervals. Meanwhile every druggist is urged to secure a liberal supply of Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve, both in 30 and 60-cent sizes in order to supply our readers without delay.

HARDING OFF FOR DIXIE TRIP

Will Make Speeches at Birmingham and Atlanta

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—President Harding left Washington at one o'clock this morning on a special train for a four day trip thru the South, his first visit to that section since his inauguration.

Three addresses are to be made by the President during the trip, two at Birmingham, Ala., which city is celebrating the semi-centennial of its founding, and one at Atlanta. A stop will be made at Camp Benning, Georgia, for inspection of the infantry school there.

The president was accompanied by Mrs. Harding, Secretaries Weeks and Fall, Senator and Mrs. Underwood of Alabama, George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the president and Brigadier General Sawyer, the president's physician.

The special train is expected to make the run to Birmingham without stop, arriving there at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. The entire day will be spent there, more than half a dozen events being on the president's program. Leaving Birmingham early in the evening the presidential party will arrive at Camp Jennings Thursday morning, and after a short stop there will proceed to Atlanta. The return trip will be started Thursday evening with the arrival in Washington timed so as to permit holding the Friday cabinet meeting.

BIRTH RECORD OF CHILD SOUGHT HERE FOR USE IN CASE IN MICHIGAN COURT

Probate court was asked late Monday afternoon to make birth records for Inez Ferguson, 13, to be used in a trial in circuit court in Kalamazoo, Mich. The telegram stated the child was the daughter of Connel and Bertha Ferguson.

The records show that her birth corresponded to claims made there, he having been born in March, 1908. The figures were furnished by probate court. The county agent, who filed the telegram, failed to state the nature of the case which is pending in court there.

Painful Rheumatic Swellings Disappear

Discoverer Tells Hunters 2 Drug Stores, Enterprise Drug Store, Thompsons 3 Drug Stores, Interurban Drug Store, Public Drug Store and All Good Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allenrin Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided after years of restless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated poisons, commonly called acids and deposits, are dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of work he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Hunters 2 Drug Stores, Enterprise Drug Store, Thompsons 3 Drug Stores, Interurban Drug Store, Public Drug Store have been appointed agents for Allenrin in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit.—Adv.

WHY YOU DO IT

A LEAGUE against handshaking—the Ligue Contre La Poignée de Main—is growing like wild-fire in Paris.

Its members are trying to stop the spread of disease germs by physical contact. Much explanation is said to be required, to avert duels when one Frenchman refuses to shake another's hand.

Is our ancient custom of shaking hands doomed?

Why should two people shake hands, anyhow? It signifies no more than when two orientals rub noses.

The custom started in cave-man days when the fighting right arm was extended to indicate that the war club was not to be used.

In New Guinea, when natives meet, they pluck a leaf and place it on the head, instead of shaking hands. The leaf is their symbol of friendship and peace.

Why do men lift their hats when meeting women? This custom probably dates from the days when knights raised the steel visors or face-lids of their helmets, to get a better look at the ladies and to display their own facial charms.

Yet, if you uncover your head in the interior of Turkey, it is considered indecent.

When you are in Rome, do as the Romans do.

If in China, and meeting an old friend, fall on hands and knees and bump forehead thrice on the ground. Meeting the same friend in Lima, slap him on the back, pump-handle his arm and say, "How do you find business?" That always breaks the ice.

Our peculiar customs, such as shaking hands and removing hats instead of coats when meeting the ladies, all date back into the remotest history.

They demonstrate how custom becomes a habit, how a national habit becomes hereditary—in short, the human tendency to go on doing the same thing forever.

Possibly the present age of automobiles will eliminate the handshake and develop a generation that carries auto horns for greeting each other. After all, that would be as sensible as shaking hands.

TERENCE MACSWINEY

NEGOTIATIONS between the Irish and the English are not running smoothly. That was to be expected. The problem is too big, of too long standing, to be settled quickly and easily.

One thing, however, is certain—the Irish question is nearer solution now than it ever has been before.

By rather remarkable coincidence, the Irish-English conference gets well under way as time brings the first anniversary of the death of Terence MacSwiney. The lord mayor of Cork, martyr to his convictions, died Oct. 25, 1920.

At that time, the majority of disinterested spectators probably believed that MacSwiney had died in vain. It does not require the perspective of centuries, or even of decades, to prove that this was not so.

The day MacSwiney died, the tide turned in Ireland's favor.

His passing, the climax of his heroic hunger strike, focused world sentiment on the British foreign office. That sentiment, more than anything else, led England to seek a permanent solution of the Irish question.

Negotiations may run for months. They may be suspended at times. They may even fail entirely. But failure would lead to further negotiations. A definite step forward has been taken.

MacSwiney accomplished much for his cause.

MONKEY'S INVENTION

A HIGHLY intelligent orang-utan—possibly the long-sought missing link between monkey and man—creates a sensation in the New York Zoological Gardens.

The orang-utan is an anthropoid ape, the kind told about in the Tarzan stories. It has small ears, very little hair, and is about two-thirds as big as a gorilla. It's so much like a human that Malay natives gave it the name, orang-utan, which means "man of the woods."

Orang-utan in the New York zoo, wanting to get out of its cage, hit on the idea of ripping down its steel trapeze bar and using it to pry the cage bars apart.

"It has discovered the principle of the lever," says Dr. W. T. Hornaday, the zoo's director. "Finding that it didn't have enough strength to use the lever, it summoned another orang-utan to help it."

Scientists now will debate whether the orang-utan conceived the idea of the lever, or whether it was just imitating what it had seen some man do.

HAVING discovered the principle of the lever or crowbar, the orang-utan is well on the way toward civilization.

Civilization, as modern man defines it, rests on machinery. Take all machinery away (all mechanical devices) and all of us soon would be living in the trees and caves.

All mechanical movements are based on applications of the principles of the wheel and wedge and the lever used by the caged monkey.

If the orang-utan can figure out the wheel and wedge, it's just a question of time until the jungle monsters will have their own automobiles. That is how man started.

HOW did man happen to discover the lifting power of the lever? Probably like this: He tried to lift a heavy log and couldn't. Exhausted, he sat down to rest on a smaller log thrust crow-bar-fashion under the big log. Up went the big log, under his weight. That mystery clung in the primitive man's mind. Finally he figured it out and applied it.

The wedge principle probably came to him by pondering how his wedge-shaped teeth split a bone with ease.

And the wheel principle probably came when he sat on a loose round stone and noticed that it carried him with it easily when it rolled.

If the truth were known, all other human discoveries also have been the result of accident, which is nature's way of periodically unlocking another of her secrets to make it available for us.

More power to you, Mr. Orang-utan. In your experiment with the lever, we see a picture of our ancestors emerging from barbarism.

POOR FISH

Whenever I'm terribly bored,

Whenever life seems, on the whole,

A thing to be greatly deplored,

I find I can brighten my lot

And tie to my troubles the can

By thinking my stars I am not

Like the Paleolithic Man!

His life was exceedingly bleak.

He had very little to do—

A fight with a bear once a week.

A brush with a tiger or two—

But otherwise, gosh, it was dull!

With nothing to figure or plan

And never a thought in the skull

No baseball or tennis or art.

Just one long succession of days

With no way to tell them apart;

He fought, and he gorged and he slept.

Beat his wife—like the rest of his clan—

But the years must have sluggishly crept.

For the Paleolithic Man!

So when I'm considering him

I say to myself, "Hip hooray!

Existence has color and vim.

I'm glad I am living today!

The world is a place of delight

With marvels and wonders to scan.

I certainly pity the plight Of the Paleolithic Man!

"AUDACITY AND FAITH"

BY DR. WM. E. BARTON

THE phrase "audacity and faith" caught my eye and I rather liked it. I wondered if most readers who saw it where I saw it would think it a misplaced coordination. Have faith and audacity anything in common? Is not faith passive, submissive, and something whose quality is the reverse of audacity?

I did not find the word in a treatise on religion. It is in Arnold Bennett's book entitled "Your America."

We criticize Englishmen for touring America in a fortnight and going back to tell Englishmen what sort of country America is; but this book, based on a tour of that kind, was written for Americans. Mr. Bennett was speaking about Chicago's magnificent system of parks and boulevards. He did not like Chicago's streets, and I do not blame him. He did not think Chicago at all realized her own possibilities, and I think he is right.

He said Chicago had no proper rallying point, and she needs it. He is right about that; and the congestion of Chicago's iron-bound streets is an abomination and a peril.

I who live there may be permitted to say that which Mr. Bennett did not say. But he said that Chicago's boulevard system "discloses a tremendous audacity and faith."

He is right.

And he mentions with a sense of solemnity the turning of its river up stream.

Every American city represents in its best achievements a combination of audacity and faith.

The faith that removes mountains and builds America's tunnels and bridges, her railways and commerce.

Business is not done on any other basis than that of faith.

Business depression is a lack of confidence, that is to say, a lack of faith. Business success is invariably a triumph of faith.

Mr. Bennett is right not only of Chicago but of every American city. What is there disclosed is "a tremendous audacity and faith."

Common Sense Ways to Keep

CONCERNING CANCER

If discovered early and treated immediately cancer is a curable disease. Notwithstanding this fact, statistics show that 80,000 deaths occur from cancer every year in the United States.

Cancer is confined almost exclusively to adult life. Largely because of neglect and ignorance about it, ten cases are fatal. Yet if proper precaution and treatment were observed, it is probable that over half of the annual number of deaths would be prevented.

Women are most subject to cancer owing to the fact that the special organs of women are particularly susceptible to this disease. If we exclude deaths from cancer of the breast and uterus, the relative frequency of all other forms is about the same in both sexes. For this reason cancer is a disease of special interest to women and specially women of middle age.

There are three forms of worry about the disease that are really quite unnecessary. People often believe that cancer is contagious, hereditary or a blood disease. It is none of these.

No germs capable of causing cancer in human beings or animals have ever been found. The occurrence of a large number of cases in a particular house or street has usually been shown to be due to unsanitary living conditions, and the fact that the house or street has been occupied by an unusual proportion of persons above middle age. The possibility of "catching" cancer from someone having it should therefore be disregarded.

Life insurance companies have proved that cancer is not inherited. Even those holding the strongest views against this statement, maintain that only a tendency to cancer is inherited and not the disease itself. The most that could be fairly argued is that people whose families seem particularly subject to cancer may well inform themselves with special care regarding the symptoms and be at least alert as other intelligent people to understand the warnings of early cancer.

Other than that, they need give themselves no further concern, for a disease so prevalent must necessarily often strike members in the same families.

Cocoonut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoonut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. The oil of two teaspoons will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. Thelater rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoonut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.

"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.

"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuerry, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

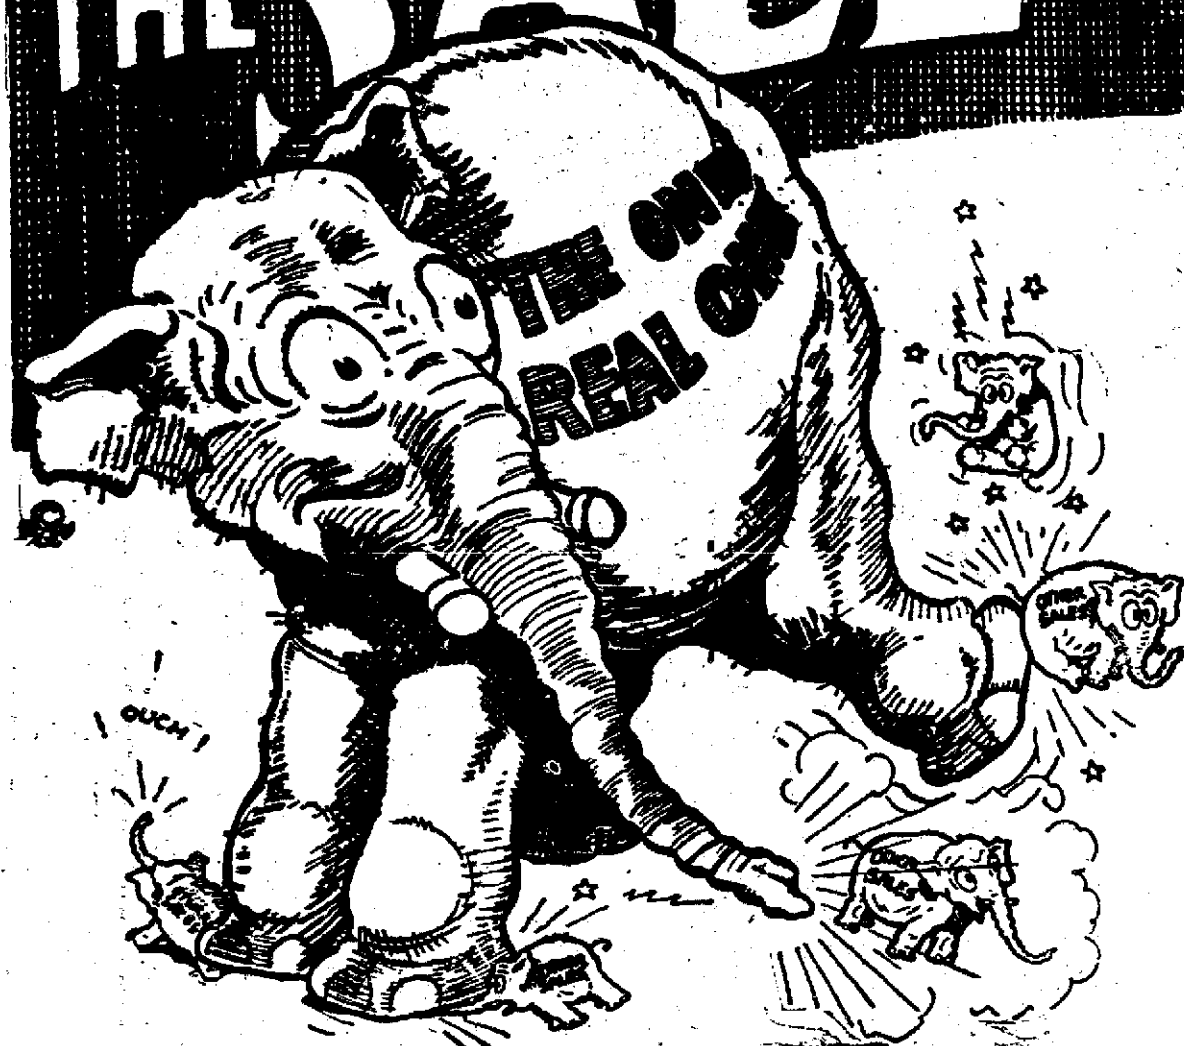

Dante, So. Dakota.—"I would have pains and cramps every month until I could hardly stand it and could not do my work at all at that time and often had to go to bed. I went to a physician, but he did not do me much good and said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and thought I would give it a trial. Now I feel lots better and don't have to give up and go to bed, and can do all my work. You may use these facts as a testimonial, and I will answer with pleasure all letters I receive, and you may be sure I will praise your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. ARTHUR J. SUSIE SMART SAYS

Dear Miss Smart:
I WENT with a wonderful girl for some time. I cared deeply for her and still do. I was thoughtful and attentive and did everything to make things pleasant for her. Altho, we were not exactly engaged, I never proposed to her, but I loved her enough to have proposed. One evening she said she thought I had better not come to see her so often. I tried to abide by her wishes. For two weeks she would not permit me to come to see her. Finally one day she said I might come to see her just as soon as she saw me. That was several weeks ago and she hasn't broken her promise. I told her that I had been with her. I can't forget her. What shall I do?

YOU say that the girl is wonderful; that you went together for some time and that you love her deeply, yet you never made a definite proposal of marriage to her. That doesn't sound exactly consistent, does it? Evidently her policy is: "First come, first served." Perhaps your delay in expressing your love to this girl impelled her to question the sincerity of your intentions. Most probably she felt that she was giving you more time than she was justified in giving to a man to whom she was not engaged.

If the girl really cared for you it seems strange that she would become engaged to another man in so short a time. In all fairness to her, certainly it must be said that she was far from being sincere and considerate in her attitude towards you.

You say you can never forget her. That is all nonsense. You can. One can train himself or herself to do almost anything. Forget the past. Seek new friendships and new interests and refuse to let your happiness be spoiled by a girl who was so little concerned about your happiness and your feelings.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) Who is the state secretary? (2) Is Allen-Go paying out mother's pension now or has it been discontinued until November?

BLUE EYES

(1) Harvey Smith. (2) For this information communicate with J. H. Hamilton, probate judge.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) I am going to quit a boy friend, whom I have been going out with for four months. What shall I tell him? (2) Should a girl take hold of a boy's arm while walking down the street? (3) If a girl should drop her arm when they cross a street, so he can help her across? (4) What can I do to keep my hair from coming out? (5) What color tie should I wear with a pongee waist under a red jumper dress?

BROWN EYES

(1) My dear girl, certainly you should know better than I what to tell your friend. If you wish to break off your friendship with him because you have grown tired of his attentions and of his friendship you must be very careful about saying anything discourteous or unkind. Do not attempt to break all at once. Let it be gradual and, no doubt, your friend will see for himself in a short time that you no longer care for his attentions. (2) and (3) It is better to let the boy do the "taking." (4) Either a brown or a black. I really think that a plain, white tailored waist would be far prettier and more appropriate with the red jumper than the pongee.

Dear Miss Smart:
Please tell me what will mend a fish bowl that is partly cracked at the bottom.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED
You will, in eating raw peaches served at breakfast, quarter the fruit, then peel it and cut into small pieces, transferring these to the mouth with the fingers. Apples and pears should be eaten in the same way. You will not lift bones in the fingers to eat meat from them. Those bits of meat which you are not skillful enough to remove with the knife you must forego.

You will, as the host who carves, offer a second helping of meat to those whom you see have disposed of the first, but you will not unduly press the second helping upon a guest who acknowledges that her appetite is quite satisfied.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

By WINONA WILCOX

DIVORCE AND REVENGE

"A child will turn out all right in the end—if he is made to," runs a wise line in a recent best seller. And so with a husband "if he is made to." Such is the gist of many letters from wives who have written to me—after they had been divorced.

Come this from a woman who admits that she obtained her divorce for revenge—and found the taste bitter.

"I have proved the theory that the offended wife can achieve a sure revenge by releasing a husband to marry another woman.

When my husband found his affinity and gave me grounds for divorce, I never hesitated a second. I took refuge with my married daughter, and I went to work.

"The erring one wedded the object of his infatuation.

"She is bobbed and rouged, fluff adorns and fills her head. She is pretty, but ignorant, selfish and lazy. Queer—how beauty can fool a man.

"Now my former husband is one of the fastidious and esthetic sort. He needs a real wife to see to his comfort. He loves to be taken care of. He must have an orderly, spick and span home, and a delicious little dinner to complete his day. His feet are sensitive; he never had to put on a sock with a hole in it while I lived with him.

"Did he think of these necessities?"

when he fell in love with a pink and a perfect 36 figure?

"He did not. He was so used to my care that he had come to expect it as his natural right. He gave me my industry a thought. He posed as a wife was like that.

"He learned. Times changed to him the day I packed my trunk.

"His new wife is as indolent as extravagant. I made many of my clothes, she charges hers at the best shops.

"My former husband now lives on delicatessen products and thin foods which he loathes. They make him dyspeptic.

"The result is a worried and harassed man; he is thin and cranky before his time.

"The poor man steals over to call upon our daughter and play with our baby grandson, and when I see him, I could weep, not for him, but over him.

"His own children are ashamed to meet him with his baby-girl with. By following his romantic impulse their father has ruined the last years of his life.

"My revenge is complete. My wronged wife could ask more—but it is like a cup of poison.

"When I surrendered him to the girl I delivered him up to the worst side of his nature.

"I, the wife of years, knew his strength and his weakness. I have should have divorced him, I have have compelled him to live up to his finest side."

one suspects them. This morning when they go in, Fred and I are going in with them."

"Fred?"
"Fred, the taxi driver," he explained. "He is one of our men. He and I have been thru a lot together."

"As their taxi came to a stop two doors away from the gambling house, the ice wagon was just turning in from Broadway."

Suzanne watched interestedly out of the taxi as Dean and the driver started off on their mission. She saw the ice wagon stop before the gambling house and two husky men lift out a huge piece of ice. She observed, too, that the taxi driver had armed himself with a small wrench from the car, and she wondered if Dean was armed. Too late, she thought of the revolver in her bag and wished that she had offered it to him. She saw the four of them go down the three stone steps to the basement entrance.

There was a short wait, and then the rattle of a chain as the door opened to admit the ice men. There came a slight noise—as if made by men in a scuffle. A third followed, and like a man's body dropping to the floor.

Suzanne looked about nervously. The street, at that hour deserted save for an occasional scrubwoman scurrying along to her work, seemed dingy and lawless. The lack of the usual noises left a void in her ears. Almost the only sound that reached her was the clang of an occasional Broadway car or the muffled rumbling of a subway train far underground.

Terrified at the loneliness of her vigil, yet keyed up and tense with excitement, she waited.

What was happening inside the gambling house? Had Dean's ruse been successful? Had his entrance been discovered? Was he safe?

"Crispy and crunchy as all the time-crackly! See what would happen if Kellogg's got all mixed up before tomorrow!"

You certainly realize the difference in Corn Flakes when you eat Kellogg's

From the instant you open the generous sized package till they're tucked away in great and tiny "bread-baskets," Kellogg's Corn Flakes are a never-ending delight! You can't even look at those big sunny-brown flakes, all joyously flavored, crisp and crunchy, without getting mighty hungry!

Such a spread for big and little boys and girls—the sweetheart of fine white corn kernels wondrously flavored and deliciously toasted in Kellogg's own way! You can't imagine anything more joyous to eat, or more ideal for fussy appetites!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are childhood's ideal food! Kiddies can eat as much as they can carry! Every mouthful makes for health, for sleepy-time stomachs!

Don't just ask for "corn flakes"! You say KELLOGG'S and you'll get KELLOGG'S!

Epstein, ever a dangerous foe would be vastly more dangerous in his lair. Sitting there alone in the taxi, he found the suspense becoming unendurable.

But meanwhile, Dean's plan was working out far more auspiciously than he had dared hope.

The negro caretaker who opened the door, seeing only the accustomed loomen, had withdrawn the bars and chain and had stood aside to let them enter. As soon as they were inside the two men, dropping their tongs and throttling him as Dean and the chauffeur came rushing after them. Without his having had a chance to raise an alarm they had him tightly bound and gagged. With this accomplished they left him lying on the basement floor, his eyes rolling in terror.

They paused then to listen. No sound came from the floors above and apparently their presence in the house was as yet undiscovered. Softly they began tiptoeing up the stairs. The time of the uninvited visit had been well chosen. Two hours before, the place had closed for the night. Croupiers, faro-dealers, bankers, as the last guest had departed turned in the money from their tables and departed for their homes. To all appearances the place was unattended save for the caretaker and his wife—who had rooms on the top floor—and possibly Epstein himself.

Dean had long been familiar with the arrangement of the house. In those callow days when he was still at college he had often visited the place with other racing students. He knew that practically the whole first floor was given over to a great reception room, the walls of which were hung with costly paintings. In the rear was a smaller room used by Epstein as his office, furnished ordinarily with only a desk, a chair and a great safe. Beside the office there was a sort of pantry from which an electric service elevator ran to the other floors.

The second floor was where the gambling was done. A spacious stairway, also lined with beautifully framed pictures, led to the tables for roulette, faro, chemin de fer or such other games of chance as might please the fancy of Epstein's visitors. In the rear on this second floor, were two smaller rooms where poker and bridge were sometimes played, and rumor had it that many a rich young spendthrift had been trimmed of his fortune here. On the third floor were the living quarters of the proprietor. Few, indeed had been the favored ones admitted there, but it was the gossip of the place that Epstein's own rooms were fitted on even a more luxurious and lavish scale than the rest of the house.

Whether or not Epstein was now in his rooms Dean did not know. He hoped that after Miss Trask's flight had been discovered Judge Kenton would summon the gambler to discuss their next move. Epstein in any event would have returned before closing time to the gambling house to receive and look up the proceeds of the evening. They must take the chance of Epstein's being absent or asleep.

As the four of them tiptoed softly to the first floor Dean lead the way into the office at the rear. They found it untenanted and there, as he had anticipated, stood the old black walnut secretary that Epstein had purchased at the Miller auction. That he already had been at work, looking industriously for the hiding place of the papers, was evident from the condition of it. The sheet was dropped down on a most of the drawers had been pulled out and flung carelessly to one side.

"Stand guard at the door, Fred," called Dean in an excited whisper, as he moved quickly toward the old piece of furniture.

"Right, sir," the chauffeur whispered, taking his stand at the entrance to the office, the wrench carefully balanced in his hand. Dean began running his fingers restlessly over its polished panels, tapping each and listening to the sound. A row of oddly carved carvings along the top and sides caught his eye and he pressed the center of each in turn, but nothing happened. He tried sliding them back and forth but they seemed immovable.

Yet he was sure there must be such a drawer somewhere. Epstein had expressed the same opinion. Certainly the papers of which old Mike Miller had been custodian could have been hidden in some secure place. There was dynamite enough in them to blow up the whole town. It ever they fell into the wrong hands a dozen men would be certain to go to prison. But where could they be hidden?

Dean, in despair, was contemplating smashing the old desk to pieces, refraining only because he feared the noise would betray their presence.

The two men with him had drawn closer to watch him and, as he knelt to make a closer examination of the lower part, one of them stepped forward to do a little investigating on his own account. As he did so he stumbled over Dean's outstretched leg and would have fallen if he had not thrust out his hand instinctively. It struck hard against the knob of a little drawer in the upper part of the desk, a drawer that had already been inspected, the force of his hand pushing it sharply inward.

There came a little click. A polished panel, just above its joints fitted with such minute care that it had escaped them, sprang out and dropped downward on an invisible hinge.

You can make the Most Delicious Mayonnaise

THE best relish to a good meal is a tasty salad dressing. Yet with a few simple directions, even a young girl can make delicious salad dressing—with Masola.

Many people who know the best salad oil prefer Masola to even the imported Italian olive oil.

Masola mixes better with other salad ingredients, and makes a smoother dressing than other salad oils. And it keeps for weeks without becoming rancid.

TEN MINUTE MAYONNAISE

- 1 cup Masola.
- 1 egg yolk.
- 1-2 teaspoon sugar.
- 1-2 teaspoon salt.
- 1-8 paprika.
- 8 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar.

Add well mixed seasonings to egg yolk, with one teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar, beat well, adding one teaspoonful Masola at a time until mixture thickens, after which the Masola may be added more rapidly. Thin with lemon juice or vinegar when necessary. The white of the egg may be beaten and folded in last.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING

- 1 cup mayonnaise.
- 2 hard cooked eggs.
- 2 tablespoons of finely chopped pimento or green pepper.
- 1 tablespoon finely minced onions.
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce.
- 2 tablespoons tomato catsup.

"THEODORA" NEEDS BARNUM'S ADJECTIVE LIST

MISS ESTHER WAGNER is a marvelous, magnificent, gorgeous, gigantic, stupendous, sensational, impressive, extravagant. That would be P. T. Barnum's list of adjectives for the Italian film being released in this country by Goldwyn.

All those adjectives truly describe the film "Theodora," being the word that most aptly fits the cost of the production in Italy. The money is not given. Had it been made in America it would have cost more than the World Series receipts.

This is extravagance because the cost of the photoplay is not in proportion to the cost of production.

None of the principal players shows acting ability above the ordinary. The merit of the picture lies in its mass effect, as regards both settings and action.

One of the most thrilling sights ever filmed is that of lions, more or less wild, turned into an arena choked with thousands and thousands of super. The killing of several lions in pursuit of the players is quite thrilling.

The only mass of human flesh ever seen which compares to that filmed in "Theodora" was in the Dumps-Carpenter arena. And the most remarkable part of that surging, running crowd in the film is that it does not stir up a speck of dust. A most polite mob!

Rita Jolivet in the title role of "Theodora," Italian film spectacle based on Sardon's famous play. Released by Goldwyn.

Strongheart! He is the hero of "The Silent Call," a new movie. He was decorated for Red Cross work during the war.

"Lavender and Old Lace" With Marguerite Snow

HAVE you ever known—or heard of—the sort of devotion that could keep a woman faithful to a memory over a very long period of years? Myrtle Reed made theme in her famous novel, "Lavender and Old Lace," which in its picturized form, is the feature picture at the Lyric theatre.

It's one of the sweetest and finest works which has come to our notice for a long time. If you're like me, you agree on things—you'll completely fall in love with the charming girl who waits thru the years for the lover who never returned—waits while she grows old and faded, ever faithful to the pledge she has made, always lighting the light in the window. And right here it can be put down that Marguerite Snow in the role of Mary Ansie, the girl who does all the waiting, gives a rare charm and delicacy to the part that is wonderful. No wild-eyed hysterics for Marguerite. Her sorrows and joys she bears with a saint-like expression and tranquility that gets under your skin.

Lloyd Ingraham the director, you remember, he used to put Doug Maclean and Doris May thru their paces—has given to "Lavender and Old Lace" a few good comedy touches that do much to dispel the gloom and has dexterously interwoven into the final fadeout an incident that will send you away with a laugh and right after you had wiped away a few stray tears, too.

The story? My dears, there are so many of you who know the story and so few who do not that it isn't hardly worth the effort. (Yes, it's an effort.) But be assured that the picture, with its atmosphere of quaint beauty, its suggestions of romance and simple splendor, the delicacy of the theme and its competent handling by Miss Snow, Seena Owen and Louis Bannison, is entirely worthy of your attention. I enjoyed it immensely. It is your privilege to do the same.

At the Lyric today and Wednesday.

Danny Lund and His Triangle Girls

DANNY LUND and his Triangle Girls (dunne why they call him that) has returned to the Orpheum theatre for a week's engagement. No doubt remember the company, as they played here late last season.

The current offering, "The Four Husbands," is supposed to be a hilariously funny comedy offering. Whether or not it is, I leave to your better judgment.

The entire offering is given in one act, with no change of scenery and two or three of costume. There is one little "be-be-tween" that I liked immensely and that is the Italian operatic aria as sung by two of the company. (That is, we think it was Italian. Maybe it was Spanish.)

Danny Lund himself, the comedian de luxe, has the center of the stage most of the time; in fact, the entire play revolves around him. The prima donna has a strong and elastic voice and makes good use of it.

On Thursday the company will offer a change of program, matinee and evening. And remember, Thursday is amateur night, when all you would-be vaudeville artists are privileged to appear and do your bit, whatever that bit may be. Friday is Ladies Free Matinee. Any lady buying a ticket can bring another lady in with her free. Come on, ladies!

Faurot Opera House Presents "Irene"

THE smart musical comedy "Irene," comes to the Faurot Opera House tomorrow night, for one night only. The sale of seats opened this morning at the box office at that theatre.

This famous idyl, which the Vanderbilt Producing Co. is bringing to Lima, will be presented in its entirety, precisely as seen in New York during the two years of its enormous success on Broadway. The costumes are all the quintessence of the designer's skill, being executed by Lucille, who is Lady Duff Gordon. A symphony orchestra will enhance the value of the beautiful score of the piece. In fact, the performance will be thoroughly complete and interpreted by a company of competent artists.

Widely Discussed Picture at Sigma

JUDGING from the preliminary reports, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," Vicente Blasco Ibanez's epochal story of life, love, stonement and prophecy, is duplicating on the screen its remarkable success as a book. It has been pronounced the most important and the most elaborate production the screen has shown in recent years.

NEW YORK — Foreign oils, especially the Mexican group, were the main feature of today's stock market. Mexican Petroleum, a result of its semi-annual statement in that stock included one of 2,000 shares at 106 1/4 to 108 1/2 against yesterday's final price of 106 1/4. The stock advanced 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 points higher. Ralls made little progress, however, and steel were sluggish, probably in anticipation of the United States steel quarterly statement, to be issued after the close of the market. Heavy losses were shown by some of the more inactive stocks, including American Sugar preferred and Public Service of New Jersey. Call money opened at 5 1/2 per cent.
